2017 is the 100th anniversary of the America's entry into the Great War, now known as World War I. Commemorate the Centennial with Arn Kind's "Minnesota in the Great War."

Learn about the new technologies that were introduced during the war, like airplanes, submarines, and tanks. These technologies made the Great War the first "industrial war." Minnesotans found themselves on battlefields and on seas that were far more lethal than anything that had ever come before.
